

This the log in page where the users or the cooks can use to get it to their account or for new users to sign up

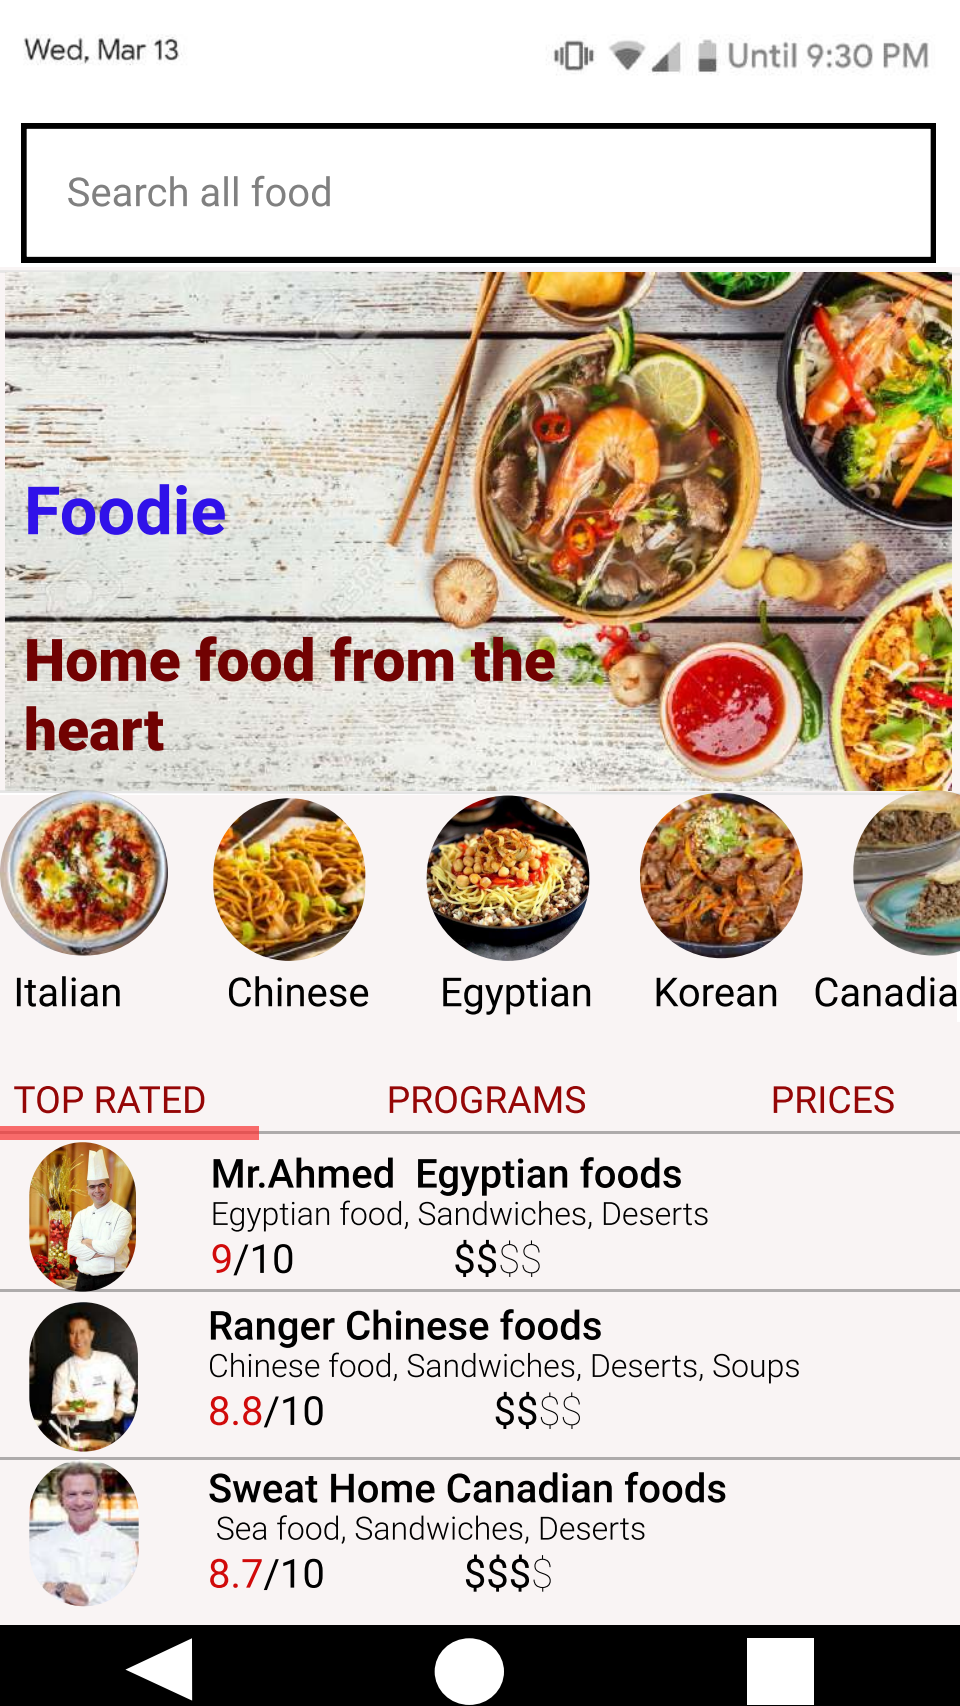

Once the users log in they get to this home page where they can search their home cook by type or name, choose the top rated, the weekly progrms and the price range of the cooks.

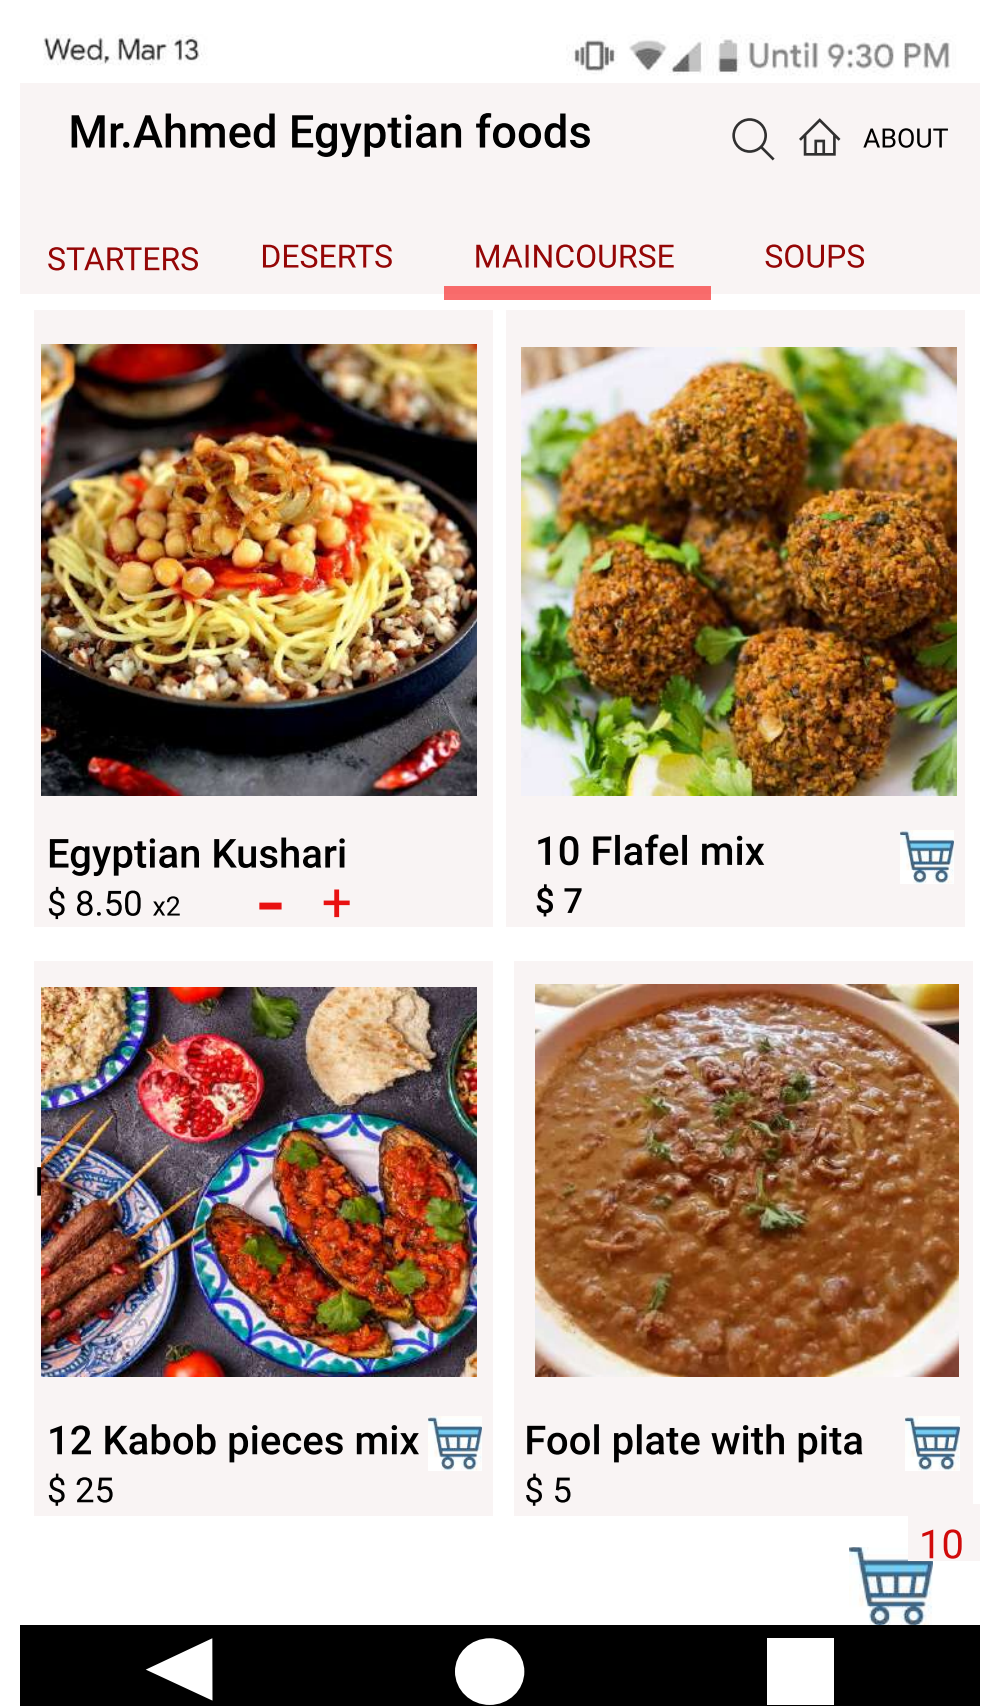

The users can look at the programs based on the top rated and the amount of meals they offer weekly and the if they are costly or not

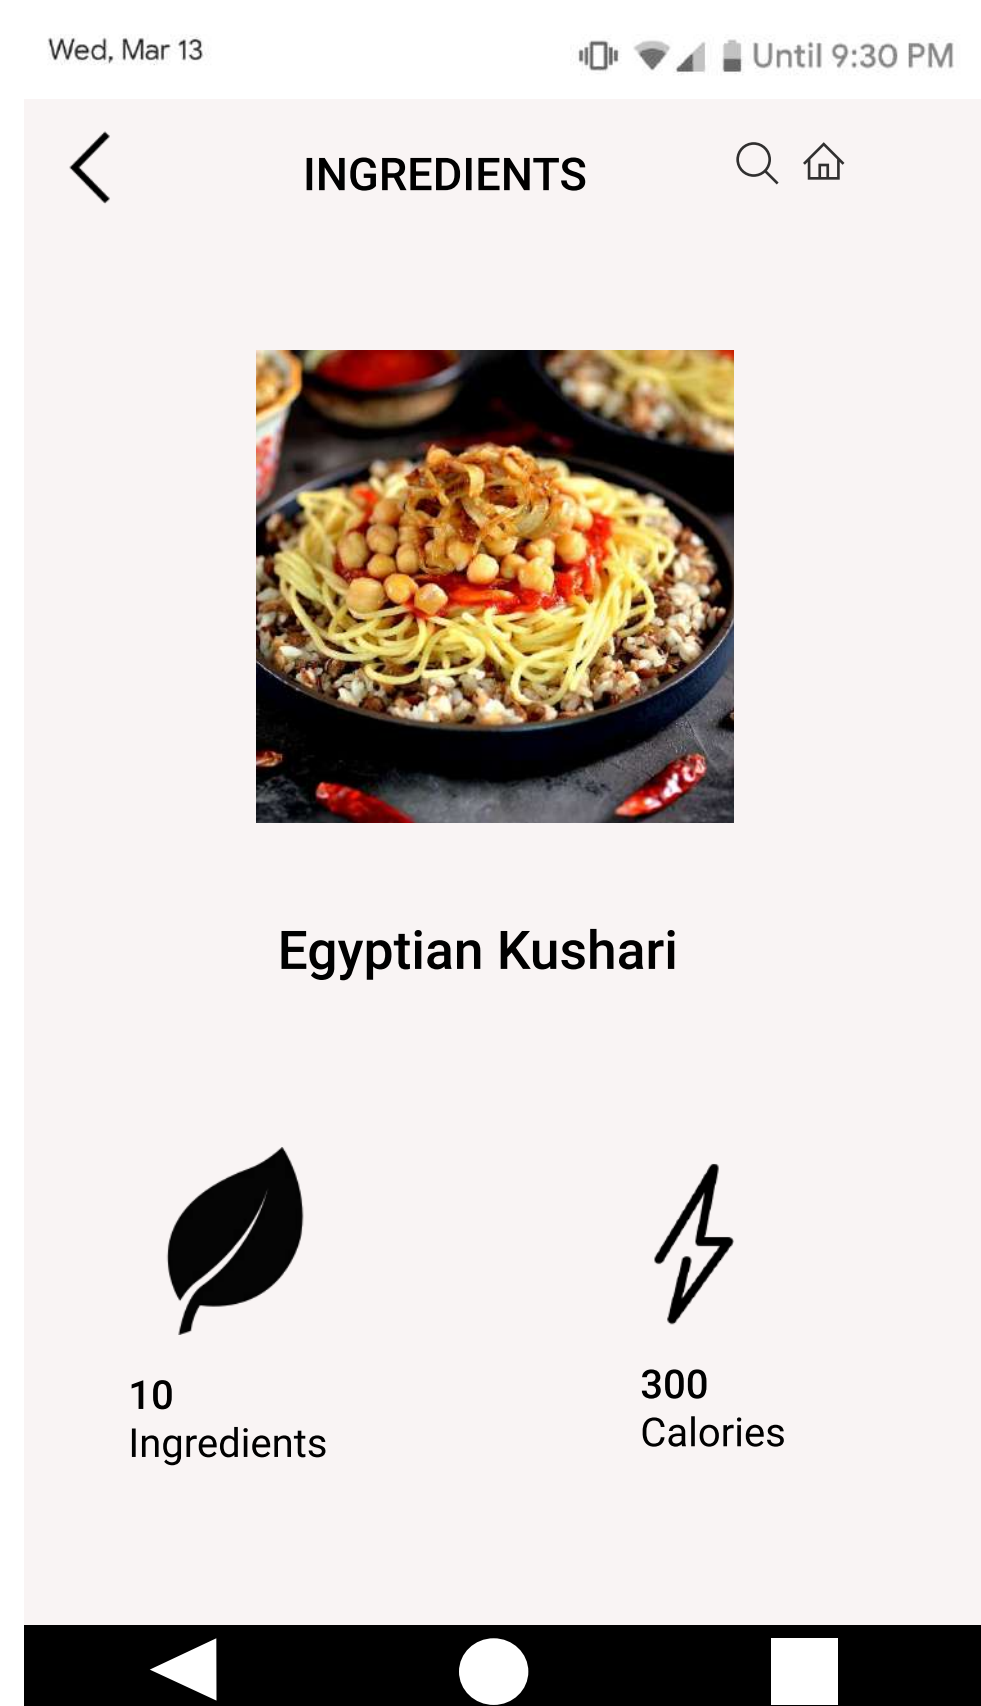

To know more about the cooks the uses can go to prices and look at the price range for the meals before they get into the account of the cook.

If the uses want to see a home cook they can go to the hime page and look for him/her

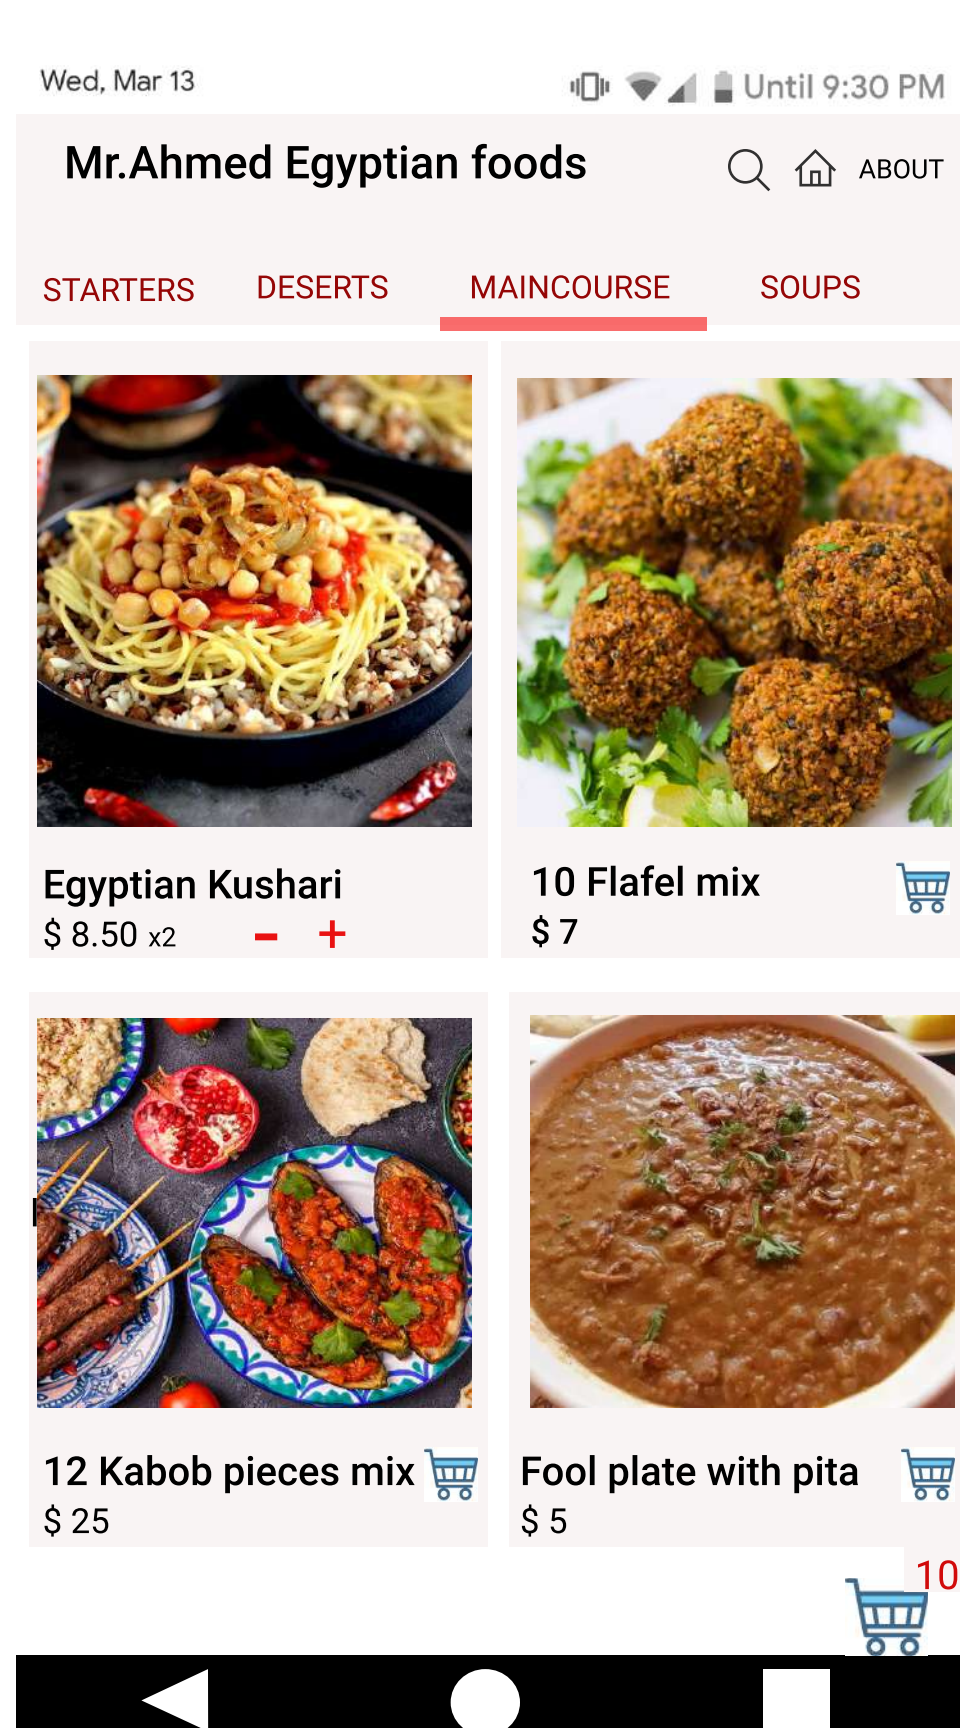

We choose mr ahmed and this is his profile where we can see the food he offers and prices and then add to the shopping cart.

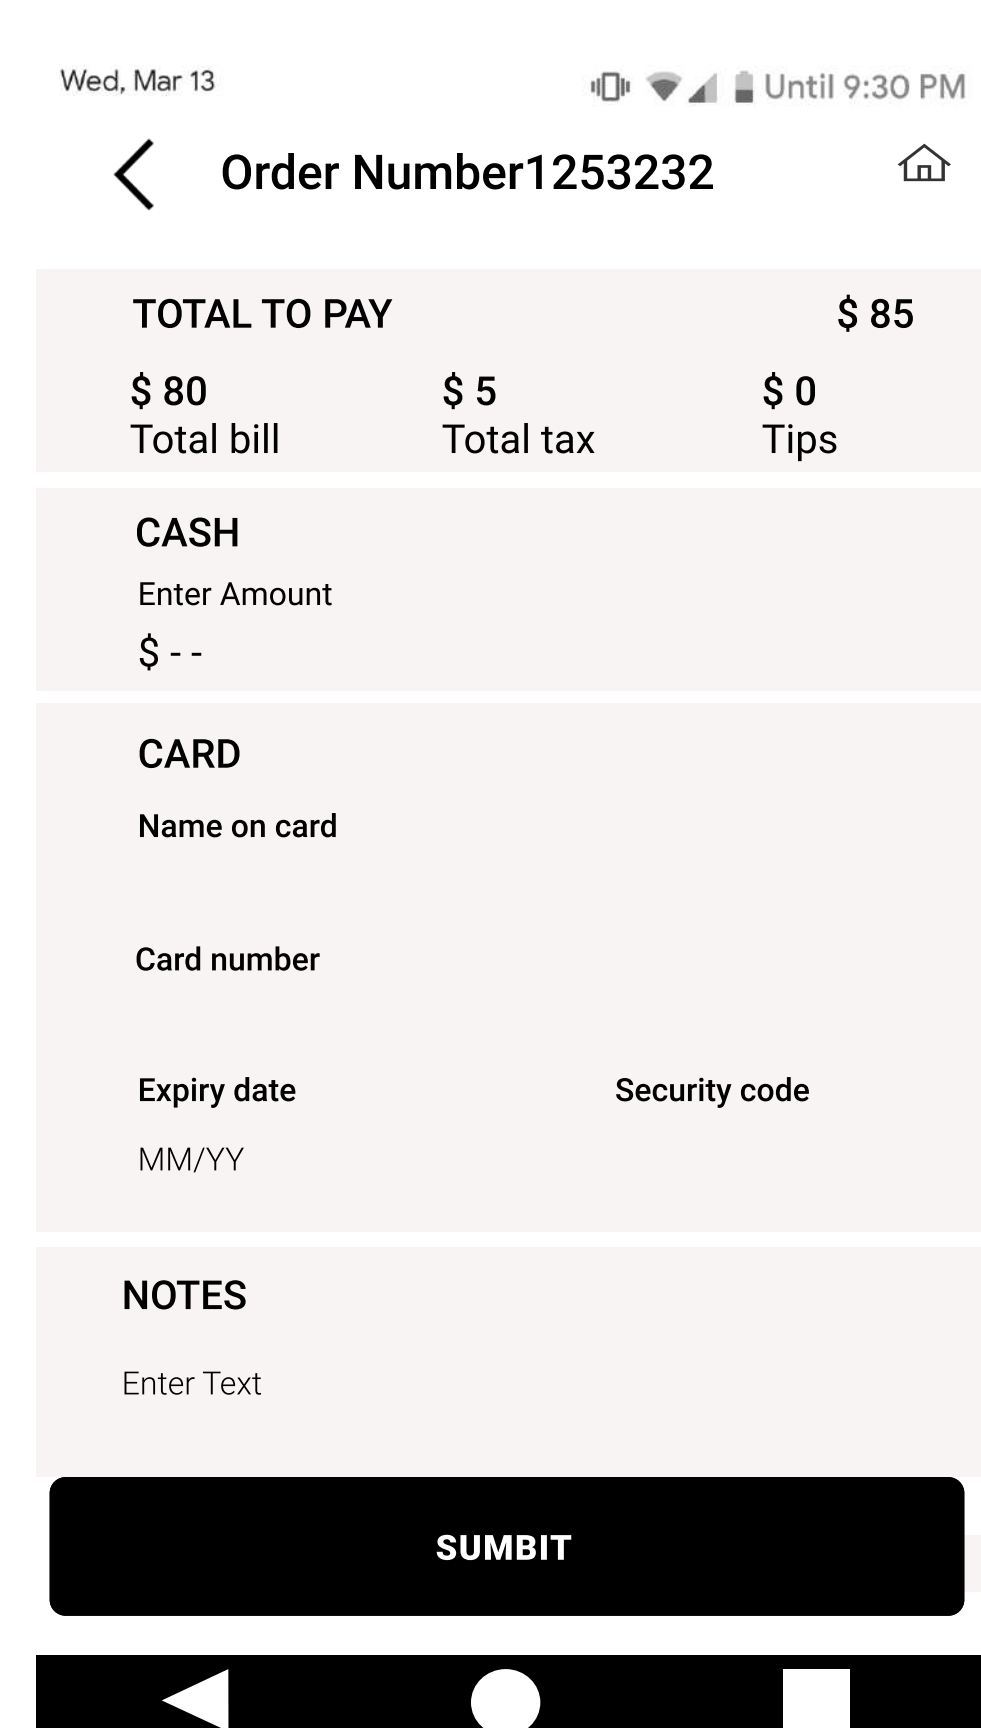

The users can check the calories and the igredients of each meal by clicking on it and see the full list by clicking on the leaf picture.

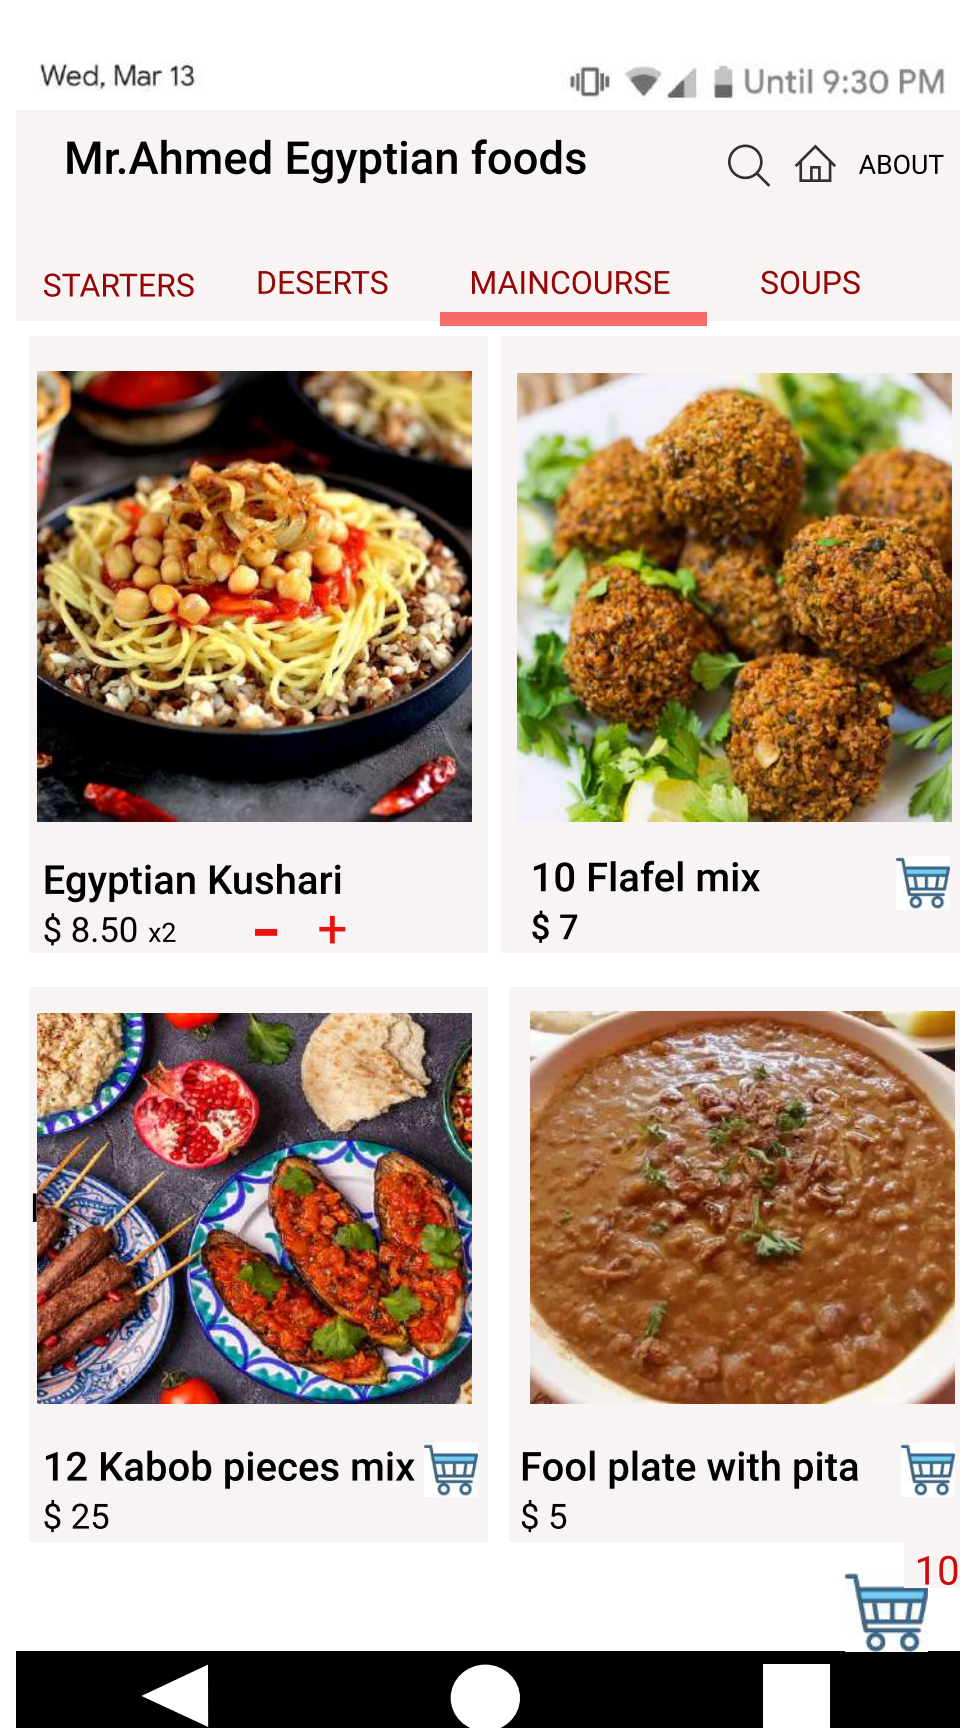

The user can then see the full list of ingredients.

The users can add the meals they like to the cart and choose the amount of each meal they need then click on the cart to check out.

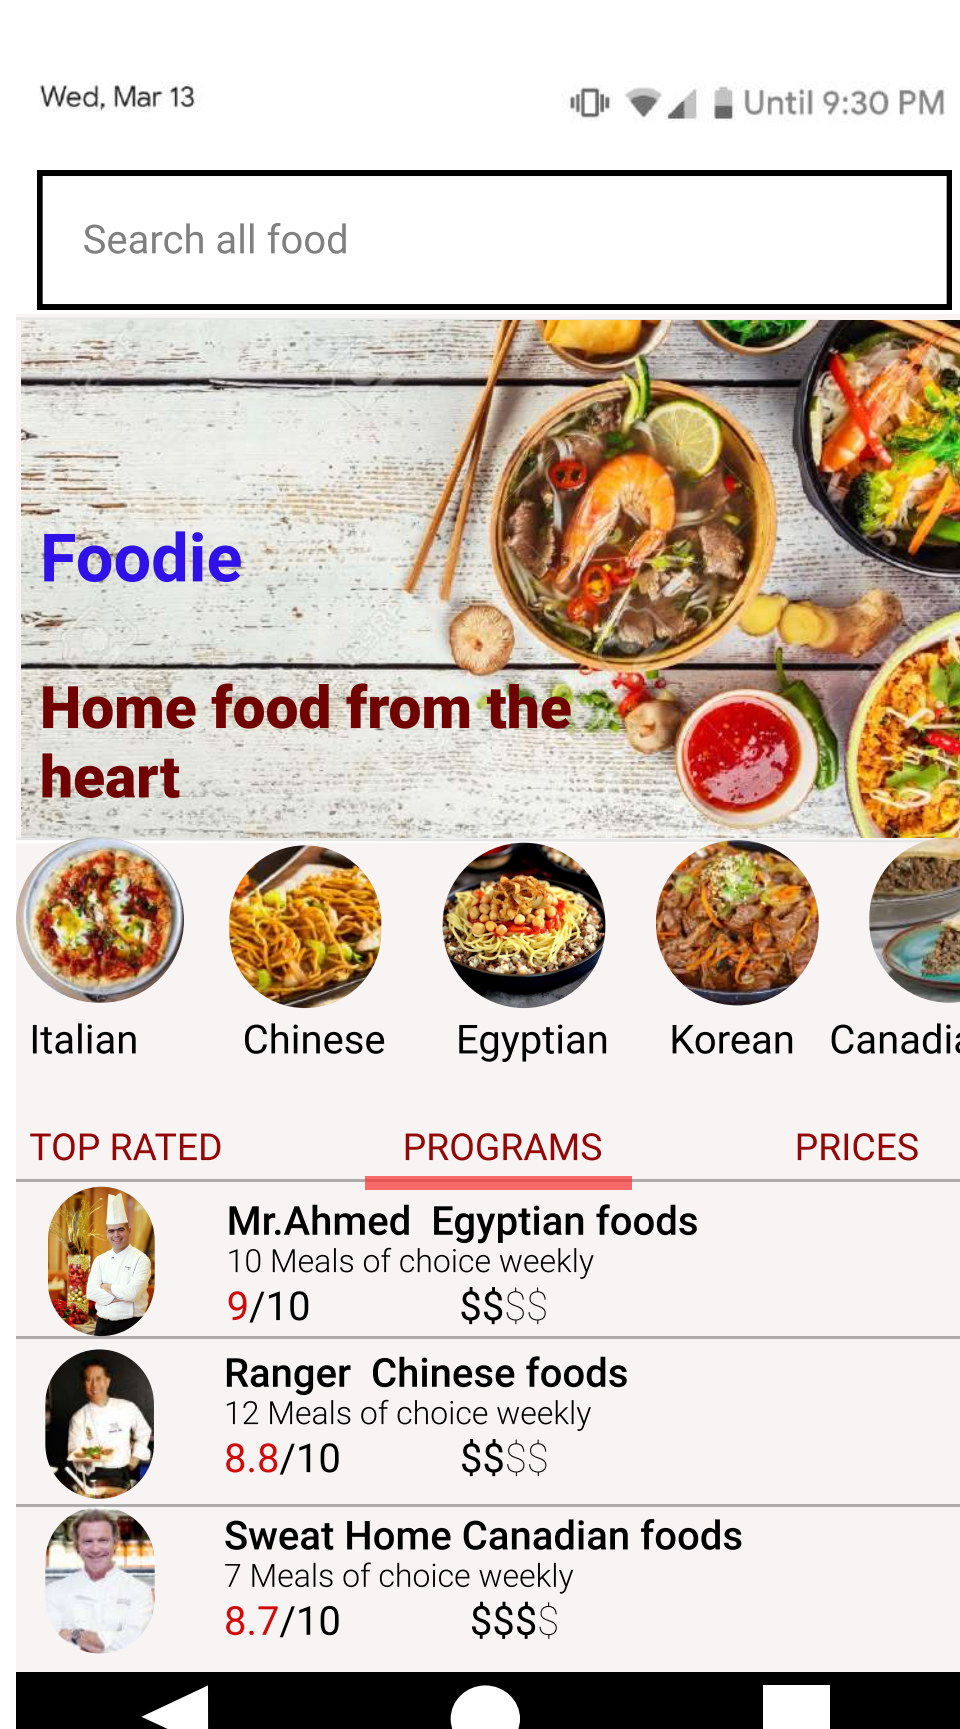

The users can add their card information or pay chas on door, the cooks will contahtct the users and tell them they exact time they will deliver the food.

To know about the chef, the users can click on the about screen on the top right of the screen to know about the cook and read the reviews.

This page includes the information about the cook, the certificates they have and the reviews.

The users can sign up for a program where they can reveive meals weekly, they click on the program page of the cook they want and they will access the program information.

The users can fill in the program information and pay the amount, choose the meals they want and the date of the meals and the cook will contact them and provide them with more information or talk about diet restrictions and deliver the food.